

A clearer way to invest.

A practical introduction to our investment choices, account journey, reported performance, withdrawals and risks.

Investing with clarity

01 / OUR PURPOSE

Nexora Capital brings stocks, crypto plans and AI-labelled strategies into one investor experience. Our aim is to make choices, terms and account activity easier to understand before you commit capital.

What we believe

An investment decision should begin with understanding, not pressure. You should know what you are choosing, how long it will run, what could go wrong, and how the result is reported. Growth is possible, but losses are possible too.

What the platform brings together

Browse assets and strategy descriptions, choose an amount and term, review the confirmation, track approved positions in your account, and see daily reported performance. Some public market figures and modelled examples are illustrative and are not trade execution quotes.

What this guide is — and is not

This is an overview of the current website experience, not a contract, an offer of securities, or personal investment advice. Check the terms and fees presented in your account before committing. Do not invest money needed for essentials or short-term obligations.

Choose a path that fits you

02 / INVESTMENT PATHS

All three paths use a 5–30 day investment cycle in the signed-in investor account. The funds for an approved investment remain committed until its maturity date.

Stock market / from $100

Explore listed companies and market information. Choose an asset, enter an amount starting at $100 and select a term. Share prices can fluctuate; public-market signals are context, while the account's investment result follows the daily performance reported for that asset by the administrator.

Crypto plans / from $300

Choose one of five amount bands: Starter $300–under $2,000; Amateur $2,000–under $6,000; Intermediate $6,000–under $20,000; Professional $20,000–under $90,000; Expert $90,000 and above. Larger contributions do not guarantee larger percentage returns. Crypto is highly volatile, and the daily ROI is not fixed in advance.

AI investment / from $100

Compare strategy themes, focus and risk labels, then choose an amount from $100 and a 5–30 day term. An AI label describes the strategy approach or decision support; it is not a promise of automated trading profits or future results. Model estimates and signals are not guarantees.

From account to investment

03 / GETTING STARTED

The process is designed to separate funding, choosing, review and approval, so you can consider each decision on its own.

01 Create an account

Register and sign in. The account dashboard shows your available wallet balance, investments, profile and referral information.

02 Fund your wallet

On Fund Account, choose BTC, USDT or ETH, use the currently displayed deposit address, and submit your payment proof for review. Check network and address carefully: transfers can be irreversible. A submitted deposit is not an approved balance until reviewed.

03 Choose an investment

Select a stock asset, crypto plan or AI strategy, enter the amount and choose 5 to 30 days. The investment is funded from your available account balance, not charged from a public listing page.

04 Review before confirming

The confirmation displays amount, current ROI information, chosen term and estimated maturity. Read the warning: an approved investment cannot be ended early. The actual cycle starts when an administrator approves the investment.

05 Follow the outcome

The account displays active positions, reported daily ROI, profit or loss and remaining cycle time. Negative days can reduce value; positive days can increase it.

What ROI and signals mean

04 / PERFORMANCE

Investment results are not fixed. The administrator records signed daily ROI by investment asset after reviewing performance; those entries drive the investor account's reported value and gain/loss signal.

How the daily rate is shown

A positive rate appears as a gain; a negative rate appears as a loss; zero appears unchanged. If no rate is reported, the position is shown as awaiting its first report. The latest rate stays active on subsequent days until superseded. A signal reflects this reported rate; it is not an independent live market-price feed or a guarantee of a future outcome.

How results accumulate

The signed rate is applied to the active investment's value across the cycle according to the account's calculation. Consecutive gains or losses compound. For illustration only: $1,000 at +2% becomes $1,020; a later -3% day would make that $989.40. This is arithmetic, not a forecast, promised rate or expected outcome.

Audit and visibility

Each daily ROI change is recorded with the asset, previous and new rate, administrator and time. Investors can inspect reported performance in their account. Ask support if a figure does not match your records.

Your money and your account

05 / ACCESS AND WITHDRAWALS

Funding, withdrawal requests and identity review are separate from investment performance.

Identity verification

You can run up to two active investments before submitting KYC. After KYC is submitted, the account allows up to five active investments across the three paths, subject to plan rules. Withdrawals remain unavailable until verification is approved. A crypto plan section cannot have two concurrent positions in the same tier.

When an investment ends

An active investment cannot be closed early. At maturity, its value becomes eligible to return to your available wallet under the account workflow. From the wallet you may request a withdrawal to a destination address once KYC is approved; requests and deposit proofs are reviewed by the administrator. Transfer and processing times are not guaranteed.

Check destination details

Verify the coin, network and full destination address before submitting a crypto transfer or withdrawal request. A wrong address or incompatible network can permanently lose funds. Never share your password or one-time verification codes with anyone.

Referrals and assistance

06 / REFERRAL AND SUPPORT

The referral program and support channels are visible from your account. Read the conditions before sharing a link.

Referral link

Your account generates a personal signup link with your referral code attached. A new investor who uses that link sees the code applied at signup. Direct referred investors appear in your referrals view; this is not a multi-level recruitment ladder.

Referral bonus

The account calculates a bonus equal to 6% of direct referrals' approved investment amounts. The referral bonus is included in available balance once the accumulated total reaches $200. Withdrawals still require approved KYC. These are program rules; they are not an investment return or guaranteed income. Referral activity should never be presented as a reason to invest without understanding the underlying risk.

Questions and help

Use the in-account portfolio assistant to ask questions grounded in your account information, or contact support through the channels listed in the site settings. Assistant answers can be incomplete or mistaken; verify important financial information against your account records and support.

Risk comes first

07 / READ BEFORE INVESTING

There are no guaranteed returns, fixed monthly profits or risk-free investment paths.

Capital at risk

Stocks can fall; crypto can be volatile or illiquid; strategy models can be wrong; reported performance may be negative. You may receive less than your original investment, including a total loss. A favourable signal, example or past result is not a prediction.

Terms and costs

The business model may include trading commissions, withdrawal processing fees, optional premium analytics subscriptions and conversion spreads. This brochure does not quote amounts, availability or execution terms. Review current terms and any displayed fees before you proceed; request clarification from support when information is missing.

Decide at your own pace

Consider your goals, time horizon, ability to absorb losses and any legal or tax obligations in your jurisdiction. Do independent research and seek licensed financial advice where needed. This guide is general information only, not financial, legal or tax advice.
